PLAN INDORSED TO EXTEND STATE ROAD

Atlanta Chamber of Commerce Takes Action.

ALEXANDER BILL IS INDORSED

By Unanimous Vote of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce of Atlanta an Extension of the State Road Is Favored.

Atlanta, July 5.—By the unanimous vote of the directors of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, a resolution indorsing the proposed extension of the Western and Atlantic railroad to the sea has been adopted at a regular session of the board.

The resolution was offered by R. L. Foreman, and was as follows:

"Resolved, That we favor the proposed extension of the Western and Atlantic railroad to the sea as a much needed addition to the transportation facilities of Georgia, which will greatly enhance the value of the state's road and strengthen its position in relation to the transportation system of the south.

"Resolved further, That we request our representatives to support Mr. Alexander's bill."

The unanimous adoption of the resolution followed an earnest discussion of the proposition by Hon. Hooper Alexander, the author of the bill now pending before the legislature, and for years the ardent advocate of this extension. He was present by invitation.

After explaining the relation of the Western and Atlantic railroad to the other transportation systems and presenting the status of his bill, he expressed his confidence in the passage of his bill through both houses of the legislature, and stated that some of the strongest men who had heretofore withheld their support have become convinced that the road should be extended, and will vote for the bill.

George W. Parrott, who has probably built more miles of railroads in Georgia than any other man living, also spoke enthusiastically of the bill and stated that the extension could be made for something over $5,000,000, besides the cost of docks and terminals.

This is the second time the Chamber of Commerce has indorsed this project. In May, 1901, it was first publicly discussed by Mr. Alexander at a meeting of the chamber, and it was on motion of Hon. Hoke Smith then that the directors first indorsed the proposed extension of the state railroad to tidewater.

Should the next Western and Atlantic railroad committee from the lower house of representatives approve of the project, it is probable that the present legislature may adopt a resolution providing for the extension of the terminals of the state road at Chattanooga to the Tennessee river and the right of way to be secured from the city of Chattanooga.

It is said that wharfage rights and terminal facilities for the road can be obtained along the Tennessee river at Chattanooga, this concession probably being made for the privilege of being allowed to open Broad street through the state's property at Chattanooga.

Should the state decide to extend the road to the river, the increased facilities for handling freight shipped by the Tennessee river to Chattanooga would be greatly increased and a reduction in freight rates would result.

It is probable the committee will go to Chattanooga to investigate the proposition as soon as it is announced by Speaker Slaton.

Will Erect Building.

Anniston, Ala., July 5.—H. H. Kaplan will begin the erection of a two-story building on his lot north of the building occupied by Allison & Paschall, on Noble street, between Eighth and Ninth street, at once. The building will have 52 feet frontage on Noble street and will be used for stores on the first floor and lodging rooms on the second.

GEORGIA LEGISLATURE.

House Votes to Take a Long Recess. Senate Concurs.

Atlanta, July 5.—For the first time in its history, the general assembly of Georgia has taken a four days' holiday, adjourning from Wednesday until Monday and declaring the intervening week days, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, "die non." This means three days will be added to the end of the session.

This action was taken by each branch, acting separately under a joint resolution introduced on Tuesday by Mr. Hall.

When the house meets Monday morning, Speaker Slaton and President Akin will announce the committees of the two branches, and next week will be a busy one, with committee meetings every afternoon.

There are already over 350 bills on the clerk's desk assigned to committees, which will have ample work to do when organized.

A bill which is aimed to prevent betting on baseball games or horse races, and fixing the penalty that the one so doing be punished as for a misdemeanor has been introduced.

What promises to revolutionize the fertilizer tax in the state was introduced by Mr. Martin, of Elbert, which proposes to raise the tax on fertilizer tags from 10 cents on each ton to 25 cents. As it is now, the department of agriculture gets 10 cents for each tag for a ton of fertilizer sold in the state, and by this bill these tags are to be sold for 25 cents each. It is provided in the bill that the money thus collected from this increased source of revenue be applied to the agricultural college at Athens and the various agricultural high schools in the state.

Another educational bill introduced carries with it a request for an appropriation of $15,000 for the equipment of the new building at the state normal school at Athens with electric lights, steam heat and the like. This bill was introduced by Mr. McMahan, of Clarke.

With the house in session for just one week, there have been introduced nearly four hundred bills, and it would seem that the end is not yet in sight.

After amending the resolution of the house, the senate on Wednesday concurred in the action of the lower body to adjourn until Monday, making Thursday, Friday and Saturday non-legislative days.

NERVY OHIOAN.

Attacked by Thugs, Takes Their Gun and Chases Them Away.

Omaha, Neb., July 5.—Fred Pepples, formerly of Akron, O., was attacked while on his way home by two footpads.

Pepples took the gun away from one of the robbers, shot the fellow through the neck and then chased the other man around the block, although he himself had been shot in the leg in the fight.

Pepples is an employe of the Swift Packing company, and when asked about the hold-up simply said:

"A packing house man has to work too hard for his money to let some thug take it away from him."

The wounded robber was captured, and is badly wounded. Pepples is also in the hospital with a hole entirely through his thigh. The second robber escaped.

Police Say Murder.

Cleveland, O., July 5.—The dead body of William Cassidy, aged 18 years, was found in a Lake Shore freight car, and the authorities are convinced that he was murdered. Cassidy, who was a moving picture operator and lived in Chicago, had entered the freight car endeavoring to make his way to Elyria. Five minutes later he was found dead. His skull had been fractured and a brick, which was covered with blood, was lying close to the body.

Stolen Mail Sacks Found in Cave.

Lander, Wyom., July 5.—Two mail sacks stolen in a stage hold-up near Myersville, in February, 1906, have been recovered by postoffice inspectors and the letters, of which there were seven hundred, have been sent on to their destination. The pouches were found in a cave.

TO REGAIN $50,000 LOST $25,000 MORE

Banker Lured Into Scheme to Break "Brace" Faro Bank.

THOUGHT HE'D WIN FORTUNE

It Is Said Rich Oil Operator of Ohio Actually Chartered Special Train to Get More Money and Recoup the Losses Sustained.

Pittsburg, July 5.—It is said real inside workings of the "brace" faro bank game which is being conducted in New York for the benefit of Pittsburg millionaires and the sportively inclined men of wealth of smaller towns was revealed here by the testimony of D. C. Davis, a rich oil operator and banker of Marietta, O., who was victimized, it is alleged, out of $75,000.

This sum represents only a small portion of the recent profits of the swindling syndicate in New York, which are known to amount to more than $1,000,000 on the "brace" faro bank alone, but Mr. Davis is the only victim who has not accepted the losses in silence.

Like the profitable, it is said, wireless wire-tapping game, the "brace" faro bank game is represented as a sure thing swindle of gambling houses, in which the man selected as the victim is told he is to share in return for putting up the money to play.

Mr. Davis was so eager for the game that, after having lost $50,000 at two sittings, he chartered a special and got $25,000 more to recoup his and got $25,000 more to recoup his losses and win the fortune promised him. The result was that he not only lost the $25,000, but was informed that he had been the victim of the alleged swindling plot instead of the gambling house.

THRILLING BATTLE.

Hospital Nurses Struggle With Maniac on Roof of Building.

Cincinnati, Ohio, July 5.—A crowd of 200 people witnessed a thrilling battle on the roof of the city hospital between William Phillips, a member of Haley's band, of Washington, and three nurses—two women and a man.

The quartet struggled on the edge of the roof high in the air, and every minute the crowd on the street below expected one or all of them to topple to the ground to instant death.

Phillips is suffering with some disease the physicians have been unable to diagnose and insanity has followed. He tried to escape after he had been placed in the strong ward, and during the absence of his attendants managed to reach the roof of the institution before he was missed.

USED GIRL AS SHIELD.

Ex-Convict Seized Her When About To Be Attacked.

Middletown, Ohio, July 5—The victim of an ex-convict's cowardice, Miss Edith Koepple is lying at her home here in a serious condition from nervous shock.

When three men, Harry Williamson, Everett Cox and Irwin Schulter, with knives, attacked John McNeal, late of the Ohio penitentiary, on the street he ran across the road to the opposite sidewalk and seizing Miss Koepple, swung her in front of him to ward off the blows of his assailants. Miss Koepple fell with McNeal, and before she could be rescued by citizens, was almost insensible from fright and bruises resulting from the kicks of the three assailants.

When rescued her clothing was covered with blood from McNeal's wounds. The men were arrested.

One Dead in Kentucky Feud.

Lexington, Ky., July 5.—In a pistol duel on Stinking creek, Knox county, Green Garrard was killed and Garrard Campbell badly wounded. The men were cousins. They are had trouble before. Garrard shot Green through the head and the latter, before expiring, wounded his cousin.

BOY DIES IN BOG.

Crowd Stood Helplessly by and Saw Him Perish.

New York, July 5.—Trying to get the ball another boy had thrown over his head, Raymond Hafferty, 5 years old, was drowned in the Harlem mere of Central park.

The lad had left his home at No. 114 East One Hundred and Nineteenth street to play "the-old-cat" in the grass beside the mere, not far away. He stood at "first" when a young batter knocked the sphere of yarn just beyond the pitcher.

The latter ran back, picked it up and threw it with all his might toward Raymond in an effort to catch the man at first. The throw went wild, and the small first baseman ran back at full speed to find the ball rolling on the top of the water.

He tried so frantically to pull it out with two sticks, in order to head off the batsman at "home" that he fell on the top of the water.

While a crowd of men and children looked on helplessly, the boy went under inch by inch. Julius Schultz who recovered the body from the quicksand, found that Raymond, though drowning, had managed to get the floating ball, which was still retained in the dead boy's hand when they took him home to his mother.

KIDNAPERS TO BE TRIED.

They Are Six Italians, Four Men and Two Women.

New Orleans, La., uly 5.—Surrounded by police officers and special deputies, six Italians, four men and two women, who have been held in the parish prison here in connection with the kidnaping and murder of eight-year-old Walter Lamana, were placed aboard a train and taken to Hanville, the seat of St. Charles parish, where they will be arraigned on the charge of conspiracy to murder, for which they were all indicted last Monday.

Following the excitement which prevailed throughout New Orleans and the adjoining parishes, after the child was killed and the threats which were made when his headless body was found in St. Charles parish ten days ago, Governor Blanchard deemed it best to take every precaution and offered the use of state troops to the police of New Orleans and the St. Charles sheriff. The officer declined, however. When the prisoners were taken to the Hanville jail there was no demonstration nor disorder.

Making Survey for Electric Road.

Griffin, Ga., uly 5.—It is reported from Flovilla that a corps of engineers are at work on the survey for connecting the old roadbed between Griffin and Jackson with the grade roadbed from Eudora to Social Circle, with the intention of constructing an electric railway. Captain W. F. Smith, president of the Indian Spring and Flovilla railway, will direct the work. He has spent some time in securing control of the grade, right of way of the old Griffin and Monticello railroad, which was never completed, with the view of opening up some excellent territory.

Will Test Texas Insurance Law.

San Antonio, Tex., July 5.—Maurice E. Locke, general attorney for the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, speaking officially, announces that his company will remain in Texas and operate, notwithstanding the Robertson law. Thirteen companies refused to comply with its investment provisions and have withdrawn from the state. Mr. Locke says the Metropolitan will continue to operate until indicted, and then carry the case to the court of last resort on pleadings of unconstitutionality.

Couldn't Die Fast Enough.

Sandusky, O., July 5.—Because he was ill unto death, James Findlay, aged 79, an inmate of the Soldier's Home, shot himself through the head, dying instantly. He has relatives at Findlay.

Rear Admiral Farquhar Dead.

New York, July 5.—Rear Admiral Norman Farquhar, United States navy, retired, died suddenly at the Hotel Thorndyke, Jamestown, R. I., Wednesday night. Death was due to apoplexy.

MANY MILLIONS ARE TO BE DISTRIBUTED

Division of Vanderbilt Fortune at Family Fete.

HUGE SUM FOR ALF VANDERBILT

He Is to Receive Half of the Total Estate—Miss Gladys, the Youngest Daughter, Will Get Princely Sum of $12,500,000.

New York, July 5.—It has been made known that the extensive festivities now being arranged at The Breakers, the Newport home of Mrs. Alice G. Vanderbilt, next month, will be in conjunction with the distribution of one of America's greatest fortunes.

On the date of the fete Miss Gladys Moore Vanderbilt attains her legal age, and under her father's will comes into absolute possession of the millions left in trust for her.

Miss Vanderbilt is the youngest of the five direct heirs to the vast fortune accumulated by the third head of the house of Vanderbilt.

The Cornelius Vanderbilt fortune was estimated in value seven years ago, when the will was filed, variously at from $80,000,000 to $120,000,000. Experts who have kept track of the fluctuations in securities, such as make up the bulk of the wealth, say that aside from the real estate holdings the estate is worth at least ten per cent more than it represented at the time of Mr. Vanderbilt's death.

Incidentally, Miss Gladys Vanderbilt will probably be in her own right the richest eligible young woman in America. The direct inheritance of $7,500,000 received under the will, with accrued income, has been so skilfully manipulated by the executors that it is said to represent now approximately $10,000,000. Added to this is a one-fourth interest in the estate of $10,000,000 provided for her mother, Mrs. Alice G. Vanderbilt, during her natural life. This will conservatively bring the fortune of Miss Vanderbilt to $12,500,000.

A large force of clerks and accountants have been busy for many weeks at the offices of the Vanderbilt estate making preparations for the distribution of the stupendous fortune. Mr. E. V. W. Rossiter, the executor, under whose direction the work is being done, admitted that the task was not nearly completed.

Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., the eldest of the five heirs, whose inheritance of $1,500,000 under the will was considered a mere pittance compared with the fortunes received by the other children, will not benefit by this settlement. The $6,000,000 given to him shortly after the death of the senior Vanderbilt by his brother, Alfred Gwynne, who got the lion's share, was understood at that time to be all that he was to expect.

Mrs. Henry Payne Whitney, who was Gertrude Vanderbilt, and Reginald C. Vanderbilt, like Cornelius, Jr., have but little coming to them at this time save surplus accumulations from legacies to beneficiaries which were never paid by the executors on account of the death of the legatees or for other cause.

Reginald will get, it is unofficially stated, approximately $2,500,000. His sister, Mrs. Whitney, will receive much less than a million. Under the will the inheritance of these two children, which amounted to the same as that now to be received by Gladys, was paid when they became of legal age.

Alfred G. Vanderbilt, the present recognized head of the family, who as the favored son has already received far more of the fortune left by his father than the other children, will, at the forthcoming distribution, get even more than his sister Gladys.

Alabama Tariff Schedule.

Montgomery, Ala., July 5.—The Alabama railroad commission has adopted a full tariff schedule for express companies in Alabama by virtue of the new law recently passed by the legislature. A premium charge of 25 cents for 5 pounds and less to all parts of the state is made.

Hon. Henry S. Chubb, register of the United States land office, received a message Friday night from Hon. W. [illegible], United States District Attorney, Pensacola, to the effect that Hon. Chas. Swayne, judge of the United States District Court for the Northern District of Florida, was dead at his home in that city. This came as a shock to Col. Mr. O'Neill, who is as familiar with things around Cedar Key as some of the Brown House guests are familiar with the landlord, preceded the party Thursday, having been assigned to the duty of making arrangements for the boat, "etc." It is safe to assert that Mr. O'Neill has made everything satisfactory, and that the party found the vessel ready to sail upon reaching their land destination.

The party has gone prepared for a two-weeks' cruise. They have been commissioned to inspect the extension work of the Florida East Coast railway, and will render their report upon their return.

Friends wish this jolly sextette a good time, and it would be a breach of the truth even to intimate that they will have anything else.

HAD GREAT EXPERIENCE.

Five-Foot Alligator Tackled a Man. Bit Leg in Two Places.

Adam Ivey, colored, never did "take no likin'," as he expressed it, to an alligator, and since he was attacked by a five-foot saurian in his field near the city two or three nights ago, and the vicious reptile came near taking two huge chunks of meat from the fatness of one of his lower limbs, has had less use for them than ever. The saurian was finally shot by Ivey's son, John, who was attracted to the scene by the noise of an animated scuffle, and who found it necessary to put two bullets into its head before it would succumb.

Adam seems to have been wrangling in trouble and misfortune recently. He has just been arraigned in court by his divorced wife upon a charge of perjury, and is now under a $300 bond for his appearance before the grand jury. As soon as he was out of this trouble this heartless saurian evidently mistook him for a huge chunk of alligator bait and proceeded to feast upon his carcas.

GAINESVILLE LOST OUT.

Defeated in a Pretty Game With St. Augustine Friday Afternoon.

Special to The Sun:

St. Augustine, July 5.—In one of the prettiest games of the season Gainesville lost to the Ancient City boys this afternoon by a score of 3 to 0. The game was well attended, and was enthusiastic from beginning to end.

Of the Gainesville team Carter, Clark, Douglass and Taylor did some star playing.

There will be two games Saturday, making a total of the series of three.

PADGETT-THOMAS COMBINATION.

J. B. Padgett Purchases Half Interest in Livery of W. R. Thomas.

J. B. Padgett, for many years engaged in the naval stores business in this county, and who has for some time been a resident of this city, owning one of the handsomest homes in this section of the State, has purchased a half interest in the livery, sale and feed stables of W. R. Thomas, and in the future the firm name will be W. R. Thomas & Co.

This stable, which has always enjoyed the reputation of being one of the most liberally conducted and up-to-date in the State in every way, was established fifteen years ago by Major Thomas on a modest but modern scale. From time to time, by his square dealings and honest, conscientious transactions, the business has grown until it can be said with impunity today that no livery stable in the State, taking it all around, can equal it. Every visitor to Gainesville remarks upon its cleanliness and its every modern department, and there is no wonder that Major Thomas has enjoyed such a remarkable success.

Mr. Padgett is himself a practical liveryman, and is regarded as one of the best judges of horseflesh in this section of the country. He will have absolute control of the business management, etc., of the stable, and this is an assurance that the business will be carried on in a manner which must continue satisfactory to the public. It is the intention of the new firm to keep the list of stock and vehicles up to the highest standard, as has always been the case. Mr. Padgett will devote his personal attention to both the livery and harness and vehicle departments making a personal examination of all stock which will be brought into the stable for the sales and livery department. With his knowledge of stock, the public may feel assured that they will secure nothing but the soundest stock.

The new firm has purchased the building now occupied by the United States land office, and as soon as the public building is completed and the land office has vacated the premises, the establishment will be enlarged, a first-class repository being added. In the meantime the firm will keep their vehicles, buggies, wagons and harness in the building now occupied.

Few people realize now the importance of this industry to Gainesville. This institution employs a large number of men, all of whom command fair salaries, and the weekly payroll would be a surprise to those who are not familiar with the business. Every Saturday night a considerable sum is distributed to these employes, which is spent with the merchants about the city, with the result that every branch of business prospers.

Major Thomas has made a wonderful success of his venture, and with the addition of Mr. Padgett and the extension of their business, there is no doubt but that the business will be made still more profitable.

THE GUARDS HOME COVERED WITH GLORY

Jacksonville Militia and Citizens Treated Them Royally.

NOTHING WAS TOO GOOD

For the Boys from Gainesville, and the Result was a Great and Glorious Day, Where Good Cheer and Patriotism Mingled Together.

The Gainesville Guards, under command of Captain J. W. Blanding and Lieutenant Shields Warren have returned from the Jacksonville festivities of the Fourth of July covered with glory, and it is the unanimous sentiment of the company that they were never more hospitably entertained in their lives.

The company left Gainesville on the 8 o'clock Seaboard train Thursday morning. Even the number of their private car, 711, was an advance assurance that they would play in luck, and they were correct in their anticipation of a big time.

Arriving in Jacksonville the company was met by the militia of that city, who escorted them down Bay street to the armory, where arms were stacked and the boys were made to feel at home. They were guests of the Jacksonville militia, and nothing was too good for them. Their uniforms gave them prestige and authority everywhere, and altogether it made the boys feel like they were glad to be soldiers under such conditions.

Notwithstanding that rain interfered considerably with the program, the exercises were interesting, and the Guards came out victorious in many of the events at Dixieland Park, where the exercises were held.

The following were among the distinctions awarded members of the company:

Hundred-yard Dash—G. S. Chamberlin, third prize of $5.

Relay Race—Gainesville took second place.

Backward Race—Tom Pinkoson, second prize, $10.

Sack Race—Frank Bevel, second prize, $10.

Squad Drill—First prize, squad under command of Captain Blanding and comprising Sergeants Boyd and Carlisle, Corporals Holly, Parrish and Chapin, Privates Gore, Arnold and Mason.

The boys' uniform was recognized at the ferry, and they were conveyed across the river at will without charge. The uniform also admitted them free into the main entrance of Dixieland Park, and in many of the shows at that popular resort.

MR. BEALE'S PRIZE.

Captured a Six-Foot Alligator While Returning from Farm.

M. D. Beale, who is managing the business of W. P Moseley during Mr. Moseley's absence in Kentucky, deserves the credit for making a big "haul" a day or two recently in the nature of an alligator measuring six feet.

Mr. Beale was returning from the grove of Mr. Moseley, located a few miles southwest of the city, when he suddenly encountered the saurian in the road. This discovery came near causing the horse to run away, but finally the animal was quieted and Mr. Beal returned to the place where he had discovered the 'gator, and after quite a lively fight succeeded in making the capture.

The alligator was bound with a rope which happened to be convenient, placed in the buggy and brought to this city, and is now easily resting in the Brown House aquarium.

THIS WAS A CLOSE CALL.

Limb Fell on Team Occupied by Colored Woman—Horse Ran Away.

Phillis Mickens, a colored woman who resides a short distance beyond the city limits, was the victim of an experience a day or two ago that she will not soon forget, as it demolished the buggy in which she was riding and came near causing the loss of her own life.

While riding under some trees which were being trimmed, a huge limb fell directly across the back of the horse she was driving, which caused the animal to run away. So sudden was this incident that the occupant was thrown from the buggy, but fortunately sustained only a severe shaking up. The buggy, however, was badly wrecked, and can only be repaired at considerable expense.

A Fine Appointment.

Prof. E. T. Wetter, one of the most widely known school teachers in the State, and who is attending the Summer Normal here, has been favored by an appointment as principal of the Hernando High School at Brooksville, which carries a salary of $125 per month for the scholastic year.

Prof. Wetter was last year principal of the Bronson High School, where he was very popular among the masses. He is regarded as an educator of exceptional ability, and the people of Brooksville are to be congratulated upon securing his services.

The Smile

That won't come off appears on baby's face after one bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge, the great worm medicine. Why not keep that smile on baby's face? If you keep this medicine on hand, you will never see anything else but smiles on his face. Mrs. S——, Blackwell, Okla., writes: "My baby was peevish and fretful. Would not eat and I feared he would die. I used a bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge and he has not had a sick day since." Sold by W. M. Johnson.

GREEK IS IMPROVING.

Man So Badly Mangled Few Days Ago Getting Along Very Nicely.

Consontinos Aralion, the Greek who was so badly mangled by railroad cars at the yard of the Tyler Lumber Company on Monday and who was brought to this city and placed in the Odd Fellows' Sanitarium, is resting as easily as could be expected under the circumstances, and Dr. J. Harrison Hodges, the attending physician, thinks the man will recover with proper care and nursing. The man does not understand a word of English, with the result that an interpreter must be constantly with him.

This man came as near death as possible to escape alive. Report has it that he was ground under the wheels, and it is the greatest miracle that he was taken out alive. He sustained a broken leg in three places, an arm was broken in two places, and he was severely bruised about the body.

Woman Goes Insane.

Clara Jones, a colored woman about forty-five years of age, was adjudged insane Thursday by a lunacy commission comprising Drs. J. M. Dell, J. H. Colson and Geo. H. Mason. An attendant is expected in a day or two to convey the unfortunate woman to the Hospital for the Insane at Chattahoochee.

This is the fifth case of insanity in this section within the past month.

An American girl has just wed a German gentleman. This will give the Kaiser an opportunity to observe the relative merits of the two nationalities as fighters.

A Texas fisherman claims to have caught a snake with a mouth fifteen inches wide. The curious thing about the story is that it is claimed that the man caught the snake and not the trout the snake.

If you had been appointed as a United States senator by the governor of your state, and were looking forward with pleasure to your term of office, and your home governor should turn around and work to have you deposed wouldn't it jar you? That is just what has happened to Ex-Congressman Hilary A. Herbert, who was appointed by Governor Comer of Alabama to succeed the late Senator Morgan. In the last primary election Bankhead was chosen "alternate Senator" to be appointed in case of Senator Morgan's death, and the Governor felt that it was his duty to so appoint him, though it was known that Bankhead represented interests inimical to Governor Comer. The situation is narrowed to the question of whether Bankhead will be able to overcome the influence of Governor Comer with the Legislature, which reconvenes July 16.

It has always been an established fact that advertising in The Sun brings results, which accounts for the liberal advertising patronage of the paper from the most conservative concerns—not those who advertise merely to see their name in print, but those who go at advertising as a business venture, the same as any other business proposition. J. W. McRainey & Co., the druggists, have received an order for Hyomei, the catarrh cure, from Oliver Shaw of Ponce, Porto Rico, stating that his attention had been called to the same by an advertisement in The Sun. This is evidence that The Sun is not only a profitable advertising medium, but that it is widely circulated as well. This paper has a circulation reaching from the frozen zones of Alaska to the balmy atmosphere of Central America—and the list is still growing.

That North Pleasant street resembles the "hog-wallow" the most of us have been accustomed to see on the farm in our boyhood days there can be no doubt, but the "hog-wallow" has a little the advantage in cleanliness, it appears. Not only the worst street in Gainesville, but it would almost be safe to say the filthiest in the State, from a standpoint of rotten mud, with a mixture of other refuse, can be said of this thoroughfare, which is bound to prove a menace to the health of the community if something in the matter of repairs is not done soon. For blocks pedestrians are unable to cross the thoroughfare without stepping anywhere from ankle to knee-deep in nasty, slimy mud, and the street is a disgrace to any town. While the authorities are at work, let them do something to relieve this stagnated condition of affairs on North Pleasant street, and avoid sickness which is bound to follow.

TWENTY YEARS BEHIND TIME.

The Sun's Washington correspondent says good old Farmer Wilson, who by the grace of McKinley and Roosevelt, has run the Agricultural Department for the last ten years, and as some claim run it into the ground, has become a laughing stock in Washington and Kansas. It appears that when the green bug was devastating the Kansas wheat fields "Farmer Wilson," out of the goodness of his heart, decided to give the Kansas farmers some advice how to beat the bugs in the future. "Plant turkey red wheat," said Farmer Wilson, "for in 1897 I made experiments and found that turkey red spreads out and withstands the ravages of bugs better than any other variety." But the millers and wheat growers all over Kansas began to poke fun at Farmer Wilson for making experiments in 1897 with turkey red wheat as for ten years previously Kansas farmers had grown that variety almost exclusively.

This shows how far behind the times the Agricultural Department is in many things and how much it requires reforming. Its statistics are rotten and have been the sport of grafters; many of its so-called scientists are far behind the times, as the turkey red wheat episode indicates; the scientists of the Weather Bureau, which is part of the Agricultural Department, are still working on the erroneous plan and theory of the winds and weather adopted thirty-six years ago, and the weather forecasts are spoken of as not as reliable as Hicks' predictions published a month ahead. The Department of Agriculture, as well as other departments of the Government, is suffering from dry rot and grafting brought about by so many years of control by Republican partisans, who that party cannot, if it would, get rid of from the party necessity of providing for its camp followers who if not furnished with what they have, or something equally as good, would turn and rend it. It is not the clerks who are to blame, though some of them are worthless, but the Republican politicians who are in charge of them. If the voters knew one-half of the partisan and grafting conditions in most of the departments they would join in the cry of "turn the rascals out."

STEEL BRIDGES.

The Board of County Commissioners are not only determined to have hard roads, but substantial bridges as well. At Wednesday's session the board let the contract for a steel bridge to span the Santa Fe river at old Fort White landing, the contract price being $3,000, with the provision that the expense is to be equally divided between Alachua and Columbia counties.

The proposed bridge will be 200 feet in length, with three spans. The main span will be 120 feet, while the end spans will cover forty feet each. The plans provide that the structure will be modern in every way, and one that will be durable for a century or more.

The commissioners are to be congratulated upon the stand they are taking for good roads and good bridges, and they may feel sure that they have the hearty support and co-operation of the people.

President Jordan of Stanford University, says: "Boys who smoke cigarettes are like wormy apples. They drop long before harvest time. They rarely make failures in after life because they do not have any after life. The boy who begins smoking before his fifteenth year never enters the life of the world. When the other boys are taking hold of the world's work he is concerned with the sexton and undertaker."

A GIFTED SOUTHERN GIRL.

The Florida friends of former U. S. Senator Call and his beloved deceased wife will be interested in the following account of their gifted daughter, taken from The Musical American of June 29:

"Lucy Lee Call, whose singing has attracted much attention at the Metropolitan Opera House, and in public performances of the Metropolitan Opera School during the last two years, sailed for Europe last Saturday, and will make her debut in 'La Traviata' at the opera house in Turin in August.

"Miss Call is a Southerner, having been born in Jacksonville, Fla. A daughter of United States Senator Call, she has spent most of her life in Washington, where she pursued her music studies until she became connected with the Metropolitan Opera Company. Two years ago the Metropolitan management sent her and Lucile Lawrence to Europe for study and upon her return she was assigned more important roles in the productions at the Metropolitan. The possessor of a lyric soprano voice of unusual purity and beauty, she is considered one of the most gifted and promising singers before the American public. The effect of her singing is enhanced, moreover, by her prepossessing appearance and charm of manner.

"On her return from Europe, in the fall, Miss Call will make a short concert tour in October, under the management of George M. Robinson, who will present her again in a number of concerts next spring, at the conclusion of the opera season."

There is hardly a person in the United States at the present time whose business, vocation or employment does not depend in some degree upon its forests. Yet very few of them have considered seriously the relation of the forests to their individual welfare, nor do they realize the many methods, direct and indirect, by which the forests play an important part in the commercial prosperity of the nation. Paper manufacturers consume enough of our forest products each year to build a large city in its entirety; turpentine manufacturers are slowly but surely exterminating the long leaf pine in the South; telegraph and telephone poles destroy thousands of young trees annually; railroads devastate more than two hundred thousand acres of timber-land to secure each year's supply of ties; the box maker, the cooper, the furniture, piano and vehicle manufacturer utilize millions of feet of forest products every twelve months; and all those manufacturers who do not directly utilize forest products in their business depend upon them for the many thousands of crates and boxes in which their manufactures are distributed throughout the world.

THINKING ALOUD.

A Ruse Which Roused Lord Dudley and Formed a Friendship.

One of the earls of Dudley, who was addicted to the practice of thinking aloud, found himself in a very awkward predicament on a certain occasion. He was to spend the evening at the house of a friend and ordered his carriage early, as he had a long drive back to his own home.

When the hour arrived the carriage was not forthcoming. Seeing that Lord Dudley was considerably annoyed by the delay, one of the guests, whose way homeward lay past his lordship's house, politely offered him a seat in his carriage. The gentleman was almost a stranger to Lord Dudley, but the offer was accepted.

The drive did not prove a very sociable one. Lord Dudley took his seat and immediately relapsed into silence, his thoughts apparently engrossed by some unpleasant subject. Presently he began to speak in a low but distinctly audible tone of voice, and his companion, to his astonishment, heard him say:

"I'm very sorry I accepted his offer. I don't know the man. It was civil certainly, but the worst is I suppose I must ask him to dinner."

Silence followed this bit of audible thinking. His lordship was unaware that he had betrayed his thoughts and was probably still meditating upon the same unpleasant subject when the voice of his companion broke the stillness.

Apparently this stranger was afflicted with the same malady from which his lordship suffered, for he exactly imitated Lord Dudley's tone as he said:

"Perhaps he'll think I did it to make his acquaintance. Why, I would have done the same to any farmer on his estate. I hope he won't ask me to dinner, for I shan't accept his invitation."

Lord Dudley's abstraction was all gone. He listened to the other's words, immediately comprehending the joke against himself, and frankly offered his hand to his companion, making many apologies for his involuntary rudeness.

The stranger proved magnanimous, and from that night the two became fast friends.

THE TAXIDERMIST.

He Stretches Animal Skins Over Plaster of Paris Forms.

Recently a prominent taxidermist of St. Louis was taking a party of visitors through his establishment. He had some very rare specimens of big game fish, both of the sea and river, besides a large collection of birds of every clime about the walls.

"Is that stuffed, too?" asked a lady, indicating the lifelike form of a small pet dog which sat motionless upon the hearth.

The taxidermist frowned and returned very indignantly:

"Madam, we do no stuffing here. We stretch our hides over plaster of paris forms. The day of stuffing is past, and no up to date establishment does it."

The party was taken upstairs, through the rooms where the real taxidermy is done. They had expected to see hides being crammed full of sawdust, shavings and perhaps hair. No such thing was seen, however, and in place of this were men and boys molding out the forms of deer, antelope, fish and other kinds of animals in the smooth white plaster. This is done very much in the same way as the terra cotta cornices are molded to grace the corners of buildings. The hides after going through the cleaning process are stretched tightly over the plaster form, which indeed is more lasting than the old fashioned manner of stuffing them.

"Even specimens of fish are treated in this manner," resumed the taxidermist, "and you may easily see how a skin would retain its shape a great deal longer over the hard, smooth surface of the plaster than if a softer material were crammed into it, which if improperly done will bulge and last but a short time."—Exchange.

Lincoln's Last Law Case.

Lincoln tried his last case in Chicago. It was the case of Jones versus Johnson in April and May, 1860, in the United States circuit court before Judge Drummond. The case involved the title to land of very great value, the accretion on the shore of Lake Michigan. During the trial Judge Drummond and all the counsel on both sides, including Lincoln, dined together at the house of Isaac N. Arnold.

At the conclusion of the dinner this toast was proposed: "May Illinois furnish the next president of the United States." It was drunk with great enthusiasm by the friends of both Lincoln and Douglas. — Chicago Record-Herald.

Fatalism Exemplified.

She—I hope, dear, that you are not going to worry about my exceeding my allowance this time.

He (brightening up)—You don't mean to tell me, dearest, that there isn't any necessity for it?

"Certainly not. What's the use of worrying about something you can't help?"—New York Life.

A QUAKER ROMANCE.

The Wooing of Katherine Hollingsworth by George Robinson.

Valentine Hollingsworth accompanied William Penn in the good ship Welcome and settled in Delaware upon the banks of the Brandywine. Katherine, his daughter, "a delectable Quaker maiden," the pride of the little settlement, was wooed and won by big George Robinson. But George was of the Church of England, and Katherine "must be married in meeting."

"George," writes the author of "Heirlooms In Miniature," "was willing to join the society, be a Friend and be married in meeting or anywhere else that Katherine said. Accordingly he and Katherine made their first declaration fifth day, first month, 1688."

The elders, however, had "scruples," seeing that George's conversion was very sudden, and they asked him this searching question:

"Friend Robinson, dost thou join the Society of Friends from conviction or for the love of Katherine Hollingsworth?"

George hesitated. He prized the truth and he did wish to marry Katherine. So he answered:

"I wish to join the society for the love of Katherine Hollingsworth."

The Friends counseled "delay and that Friend Robinson should be persuasively and instructively dealt with." Shrewd men as they were, they allowed Katherine to deal with him, and within a year George joined the society as a true convert.

An old manuscript reads, "He and Katherine were permitted to begin a long and happy married life together, being for many years an example of piety and goodness to those around them and retaining their love of truth and loyalty to the society to the last."

HE HIRED WEBSTER.

A Sharp Nantucket Man's Bargain With the Great Lawyer.

Of course Webster was in demand by those who could afford to pay for his services. A sharp Nantucket man is said to have got the better of the great defender of the constitution in an amusing way, however. He had a small case which was to be tried at Nantucket one week in June, and he posted to Webster's office in great haste. It was a contest with a neighbor over a matter of considerable local interest, and his pride as a litigant was at stake. He told Webster the particulars and asked what he would charge to conduct the case.

"Why," said Webster, "you can't afford to hire me. I should have to stay down there the whole week, and my fee would be more than the whole case is worth. I couldn't go down there for less than $1,000. I could try every case on the docket as well as one, and it wouldn't cost any more, for one case would take my time for the entire week anyway."

"All right, Mr. Webster," quickly responded the Nantucketer. "Here's your $1,000. You come down, and I'll fix it so you can try every case."

Webster was so amused over this proposition that he kept his word. He spent the entire week in Nantucket and appeared on one side or the other in every case that came up for hearing. The shrewd Nantucketer hired Daniel out to all his friends who were in litigation and received in return about $1,500, so that he got Webster's services for nothing and made a good profit to boot.

The Hygiene of Underwear.

The average person wearing two sets of underclothing a week, says the Youth's Companion, will make the change in the middle of the week, but it would be far better if the two sets were kept going the entire week on alternate days. With the biweekly change, the clothes worn during the day are aired only for seven or eight hours in the twenty-four and never have the purifying process of a sunning. With two sets going on alternate days, one set can be aired two nights and one day, and, if possible, should be hung up where they can receive the direct rays of the sun for some hours. They should not be kept in a dark closet.

A Wonderful Cataract.

The falls of Iguazu, situate near where Argentina, Paraguay and Brazil meet, form one of the most wonderful cataracts in the world, being greater in extent and more varied in character than the better known falls of Niagara. The first plunge of the Iguazu falls is 210 feet, followed by two others of 100 feet each, while between the two series of falls there are cataracts and rapids covering a vast expanse and surrounding picturesque islands.

The Left Wing.

"Is there any portion of the fowl you prefer, major?" asked the hostess blandly.

"The left wing, if you please."

"The left wing?"

"Yes," retorted the major, gazing dubiously at the platter. "I believe it is always good military tactics to bring the left wing of a veteran corps into action."—London Tit-Bits.

THE BLIND OF CAIRO.

To Be Found Everywhere In the Shops and on the Streets.

The first thing that impresses a stranger in Cairo is the number of blind—men, women and children—to be found everywhere in the shops and on the streets. Ophthalmia is very prevalent throughout Egypt. Because of a superstition concerning "the evil eye" the native mothers of the middle and the lower class do not wash the eyes of their babies at all. Watching the flies buzzing unheeded around and upon these blind children, a stranger hastens to buy a fly whisk. These are for sale everywhere and are quite attractive with their ornaments of fringe, beads and palm leaf fiber. Blind beggars greet one at every corner. Even in the high class Egyptian families there are many blind. The lower classes of Egyptians are given over to hasheesh—that is, the lower classes in the large cities—and, although it is against the law to sell it, one will find the hasheesh places pointed out, and the men who smoke the drug are found everywhere. They are distinguished by the peculiar appearance of their eyes, which become red, swollen and baggy underneath, and by the peculiar color of the skin, which resembles somewhat the skin of a Chinese opium smoker.—Harriet Quimby in Leslie's Weekly.

A LOST CONTRACT.

The Little Thing That May Sometimes Prevent a Sale.

A pen once lost me an order. I had just worked up the executive of a large concern into a desire to buy. I had my contract form lying on his desk with my finger on the dotted line. He reached over toward his pen rack, took off a pen and plunged it into the ink well. He turned to me with a frown on his face—the well was empty.

I was ready with a fountain pen. The pen was uncapped. I handed it to him. He started to write. The pen would not flow. I took it and shook it. Again he made the attempt, with a result.

"I will get one," he said. So he stepped into the other room. Evidently some one stopped him with a question, for he did not come back for three minutes. Then he stood at his desk. He looked down at the contract.

"I believe I had better think the matter over again," he said. And all the talk I put up could not budge him.

I had lost a sale because my fountain pen was empty. Now, one of my regular morning duties, week in and week out, just as regular as my shave and my checking over of calls to be made and the making out of my expense account, is filling my fountain pen.—James N. Bowen in System.

A Great Polyglot.

Solomon Caesar Malan habitually conversed with his children in Latin, but on his deathbed, when Solomon, his son, began to recite a psalm in the familiar Vulgate of his youth, the dying man, scholar to the last, muttered, "Non ita, non ita! Hebraice;" so the son repeated it in Hebrew.

He could, for that matter, just as well have said it in Coptic or Chinese, for to him all tongues came naturally. At eighteen he could write in thirteen languages, oriental and European, and among his published works we find translations from the Arabic, Persian, Syriac, Ethiopic, Hebrew, Coptic, Armenian, Georgian, Mongol, Chinese, Korean, Japanese, Greek, Russian, Welsh and Gothic. He is said to have learned to speak Armenian fluently in a fortnight, and he preached in Georgian to a Georgian congregation in the Cathedral of Kutais.—London Saturday Review.

A Patient Dog.

My brother has two dogs, one a large mastiff, the other a tiny Spitz which he can hold in the hollow of his hand. Don, the big dog, had been taught to lie down and face his food, but not to touch until the command, "Eat," had been given him. His mistress, in a hurry to leave for a day's shopping, gave Don his breakfast one day, but forgot the permission to "eat," and when she returned late that night the faithful dog lay with his paws on the plate of food, but not a particle had been touched!—Chicago Tribune.

Blunt Dr. Dougal.

Dr. Dougal of Keith, who was made an honorary member of the Aberdeen society in 1795, had a reputation for bluntness. A talkative woman went to him one day and said to him, "Doctor, what is the matter with my tongue?" "Just needin' a rest," he replied shortly. On another day a patient went to him and complained, "I have a deal to suffer with my eyes, doctor," whereupon he answered, "Better suffer with them than without."

Fancy Rice.

"I want some rice," said the haughty lady. "You have it for sale, have you not?"

"Sure, ma'am," replied the grocer. "Six cents a pound or two pounds for—"

"Oh, I must have the most expensive kind. It's for a very fashionable wedding."—Philadelphia Press.

IRRESISTIBLE SLEEP.

An Experience In the Fierce Cold of Tierra del Fuego.

"Whoever sits down," said Dr. Solander to his company among the hills of Tierra del Fuego, "will sleep, and whoever sleeps will wake no more." The brave doctor and his men had tramped a considerable distance through the swamps, when the weather became suddenly colder and fierce blasts of wind drove the snow before it. In a short time the cold became so intense as to cause the most oppressive drowsiness. Dr. Solander was the first to find the inclination to sleep, and he insisted upon lying down. In vain his companions entreated and remonstrated. He lay down, and when told that he would inevitably freeze to death answered that he desired nothing more than to lie down and die. One of the black servants lay down also. Solander declared himself willing to go on, but begged to be allowed to sleep first, and in a few moments the two men were in a profound sleep. Soon after, those who had been sent forward to kindle a fire returned with the welcome news that the fire awaited them at a short distance. The men happily succeeded in awakening Solander, who, although he had not been asleep five minutes, had almost lost the use of his limbs, and the flesh was so shrunken that his shoes fell from his feet. It was with much urging and assistance that he consented to go on, but all attempts to arouse the black man were futile, and he was left to die.

HE WANTED REST.

What Verdi Did With the Key of a Locked Piano.

Not all the great composers have courted the constant adulation of the world. Verdi used to lament that he was unable to find a refuge, even for a brief space, from the reputation that preceded him wherever he went.

At one time he desired to spend a much needed holiday at the watering place of Montecatini. When he arrived, he found that in one of the apartments assigned to him stood a grand piano of noted make. On the rack, by way of compliment, lay the score of "Il Trovatore." As soon as he caught sight of it the veteran flew into a rage, hastily locked the instrument, threw the score into a corner and, calling for his host, demanded in tragic tones:

"Lead me to the spot that overhangs the steepest precipice!"

Wondering, the host did as he was bidden, and on reaching the summit the maestro, who was almost exhausted from fatigue, flung the key of the piano into the abyss, energetically exclaiming as he did so:

"Now I have done something to secure rest and quiet. On the day of my departure I shall send a locksmith to provide the piano with a new key, but while I am here I pray you let it remain as it is."—New York Tribune.

His Grace.

Little Milly is a good Sunday school scholar and on that account was invited with two or three others to spend the day at the minister's residence by way of reward. When the dinner came on the good man said such a long grace before meat that Milly yawned and looked hungrily at the covers.

"Why are you yawning, Milly?" asked the minister. "Does not your father say grace?"

"Oh, yes," answered Milly promptly, "but it isn't so long as that."

"And what does he say?" pursued the clergyman, hoping to obtain a text for a little homily.

"He says different things, but last time when he sat down he took off the cover and said: 'Great snakes! Do you call this a dinner?'"

The homily was postponed.—Strand Magazine.

The Wrong Shop.

He was only a plain American panhandler, says the New York Globe, but he ordered his "schooner" of Bowery beer with the sang froid of a plain American plutocrat. Midway in its consumption he sidled to the free lunch counter and reduced the pile of big sausages by one.

Two more gulps of beer and a second and third large sausage disappeared. Washing these down, he concluded that he needed a sausage and got it; then for the door.

"Here, Bill," the genial barkeeper called familiarly. "Come back a minute."

The panhandler returned expectantly.

"Say, Bill," the barkeeper continued in a confidential way, "the next time you want a glass of beer you go to a butcher shop, see?"

She Had a Substitute.

Influential Member—I am glad to notice, doctor, that your wife never turns her head to see who comes into church late on Sunday morning. The Rev. Dr. Goodman—No, but she makes me tell her all about them after we go home.—Chicago Tribune.

Vague.

"My husband is really very attentive. Yesterday he bought me a dozen veils."—Meggendorfer Blatter.

FIERY CHARLES READE.

The Author-Manager's Way With Ellen Terry, the Actress.

Ellen Terry at the age of twenty resolved to leave the stage and went and stayed six years in the country. How she came back to it is told in "Ellen Terry," by Christopher St. John.

Charles Reade when hunting in Hertfordshire met her by chance on a country lane and told her in his rough yet kindly way that she was a fool to have left the stage.

"Why don't you go back?"

"I don't want to."

"You will some day."

"Never." Then, mindful of certain financial troubles threatening her rural peace, Ellen Terry added: "At least not until some one gives me $200 a week."

"Done!" said Charles Reade. "I will."

The part Miss Terry played for Reade was Philippa Chester in "The Wandering Heir." At the end of the run of this piece she did not leave his management, but went on tour in several of his plays. The tour was financially disastrous, but a suggestion from Ellen Terry that her parts did not carry her salary and that she had better leave, as any one could play these parts equally well, was received with the greatest indignation by the fiery author-manager.

"Madam, you are a rat! Don't imagine it is generous to desert the sinking ship," expressed his view of the situation.

An old lady who lived with Miss Terry at this time and was her inseparable companion remonstrated with Reade for his harsh language to her "Nelly." "I love her better than you do or any puling woman," Reade answered.—Manchester Guardian.

VANISHING TROUSERS.

A Simple Trick Which May or May Not Be Humorous.

This is a simple trick, and every married woman can perform it, but it requires the assistance of a confederate with a big bag of shining tinware on his back.

First get a husband with an extra pair of slightly worn trousers in his wardrobe; then have the confederate, the man with the bag of tinware, come to the back door and knock gently. The wife must then peep out in a frightened way, and immediately the man with the tinware tells a tale that resembles an advertisement. The wife stops to think a few minutes. Suddenly she must rush to the wardrobe but only after the man rattles the brilliant tinware to arouse her. The wife must walk back to the man again with the trousers. The man must take them and hand the wife a few tin pans. All the while the man with the tinware must smile happily. At last the transaction is completed, and presto change! the husband's trousers have disappeared and in their place appears some tinware on the kitchen table. This trick is very novel and will amuse the husband greatly. The trick should not be performed while the husband is in bed unless he has an extra pair of trousers.—F. P. Pitzer in Judge.

Scared Out of Writing Badly.

A well known musician, who writes a very illegible hand, once sent an unusually hopeless scrawl to a friend. The latter studied it a minute, gave it up in despair and then sat down and wrote in reply: "I shall be most happy to dine with you tomorrow at 6. Kindest regards to your wife," etc. In less than half an hour his friend appeared breathless at his door.

"There's some misunderstanding," he said anxiously. "I wrote you a note asking you if you could play the piano part of the trio at Brown's recital and here you've sent me an acceptance of a dinner invitation, but I didn't invite you to dinner."

"Well," returned the other blandly, "I didn't suppose you'd really sent me an invitation to dinner, but I couldn't read a word of your note, and in that case hereafter I mean always to take it for granted that you're asking me to dine."

For one of his correspondents at least the offender now writes legibly.

Peculiarities of Long Island.

The class in geography in one of the Brooklyn schools was asked by the teacher, "What are some of the natural peculiarities of Long Island?"

The pupils tried to think, and, after awhile, a boy raised his hand.

"I know," said he.

"Well, what are they?" asked the teacher.

"Why," said the boy, with a triumphant look, "on the south side you see the sea and on the north side you hear the sound."

Mamma Remembered.

Papa (enraged)—Well, Constantia, daughter, I've never in all my life seen as soft, green, unsophisticated, spoony an idiot as young Puddington. Mamma (emphatically)—I have!—Philadelphia Inquirer.

A son never realizes how much his own father knew until he starts to advise children of his own. — Florida Times Union.

WOOING SLEEP.

A Prescription That Worked Well in Philadelphia.

A haggard looking man strolled into a downtown drug store the other day and asked the druggist for help. He said he had trouble in getting to sleep when he retired. No matter how sleepy he might be during the day or how much sleep he might have lost, the moment his head touched the pillow he was wide awake and lay thus for several hours. Once asleep he was very hard to waken, but he had to be up at a certain hour, and in consequence of his peculiar affliction he was losing more sleep than he could stand. The drug clerk regarded him quizzically a few moments and then replied:

"My dear man, you don't want medicine. What you want is something to change the trend of your thoughts. Do as a friend of mine did. He was troubled the same way and found that the old folks' plan of imagining sheep passing a barrier and counting them was out of date, so he began trying to name all the states in the Union. He soon got them so he could classify them alphabetically. Then, when they no longer interested him, he started on the counties of his state. He now has them at his tongue's end, classified up to the fourth letter. Now he is starting on state capitals and their locations. Then he will take up county seats. A moment's glance at an atlas during the day shows him when he is wrong, and the beauty of the plan is that he rarely has to think along these lines longer than ten minutes before he is sound asleep. To make it short, the study of geography is a good narcotic."—Philadelphia Record.

A BOY HUNT.

Chased From Hedge to Hedge by a Big Pack of Weasels.

The following extract from an interesting book may be of interest to our friends. It is "From My Life as an Angler," by William Henderson, published in London in 1879.

"About this time, while rambling in the picturesque lane leading from Merrington to Windlestone with two other boys, an adventure occurred sufficiently startling to two little fellows from nine to ten years old. We were busily engaged in picking wild strawberries, which clustered in the hedgerows, when we saw at about a hundred yards distance a pack of at least twenty weasels running from hedge to hedge and evidently scenting out footsteps. It flashed upon us that we were being hunted. So, springing over the nearest hedge, we ran across a pasture field and, standing upon the farther bank, looked back toward our assailants. To our dismay we saw the whole pack, with noses to ground, steadily tracking our course. The word was given, 'Run, run!' and off we scampered across another field to take up our position on another hedge. Still the pursuit was going on, and the creatures were evidently gaining upon us, so with a wild shout we fled to the village, which, happily for us, was not far off. I have frequently heard of persons being attacked by weasels, but was never hunted by them on any other occasion."

The above must have occurred about 1812, the locality being the north of England.—Forest and Stream.

Shooting the Steenbuck.

Many of the poor Boers in the Transvaal, by whom all the shooting that is done is for the pot and not for sport, have perfected a system of shooting with the assistance of oxen. A steenbuck has no fear of cattle and will lie still even if they graze right up to him. The hunter gets together a few cattle and with his gun walks behind them in such a way that he cannot be seen from the front. Great care has to be exercised to drive the oxen so that they may seem to be grazing naturally. The hunter must be ready to shoot without having to alter his position. The slightest movement is noticed by the buck.

He Could Count.

A very little boy was in the room where a young lady was practicing on the piano. She was counting aloud, "One, two, three, four." The little fellow, quite surprised, after awhile went to her and said earnestly, "He next is five!"—Youth's Companion.

Fish or Golf Story.

While driving to the fourth green on Newark golf course a local solicitor sent his ball into the river Devon and killed a two pound fish. Both ball and fish were found together, the latter bearing marks of its injury.—London Standard.

His Change of Front.

"My view on coeducation," he said firmly, "is that it should be forbidden. It is deleterious to mental development. It leads to"—

"John," said his wife, entering unexpectedly, "are you telling Mr. Smith of the dear old days when we were college classmates?"

"Y-yes," said John.—Philadelphia Ledger.

SERIOUS LOSS OF CATTLE BY BOG

One Stockman in Levy County Lost 20 Per Cent of Cattle.

THE DAMAGE WAS HEAVY

Out of a Heard of Five Hundred Head, LeRoy Wood of Levyville, the Cattle King of Levy County, Came Out a Hundred to the Bad.

Information comes from Levyville of a serious loss to LeRoy Wood of that section, the cattle king of Levy county, who has suffered severely from the long drought, having lost about one hundred out of a herd of five hundred cattle, or twenty per cent.

This loss, it is reported, has been caused by bog, the ponds and brooks drying up and cattle in an endeavor to reach a small pool of water, bogging up and dying. It is said that in one bog there were found at one time twenty-seven head, which represented a great deal of money.

MICANOPY NEWS.

Micanopy, July 5.—Susie Carlton has returned from Jacksonville where she has just finished a most successful term in school at St. Joseph's Academy. Not being a boarder in the Academy, she could not compete for two medals that were to be awarded to the boarders only, but of the five that day pupils were allowed to work for, she won four—the arithmetic, algebra, Christian doctrine, and general excellence. In the examination on composition she made 96 per cent, but lost that medal by 2 per cent. She afterwards took the teachers' public examination and won a first grade certificate. There were over one hundred applicants for certificates and only two first grades were awarded in Duval county.

Susie has just passed her sixteenth birthday, and her parents and friends feel justly proud of her splendid success. Misses Josie and Viola Carlton, who attended the commencement exercises and then went with Susie on a visit to their sister in Madison, have also returned.

Mrs. Simonton and daughter are still in town, but intend going back to their home in Manistee, Ala., tomorrow.

Mrs. Edwards has returned to her home here, after having been on an extended visit to her daughter in Tallahassee.

C. E. Melton and family have gone to Georgia to spend some time.

The largest batch of letters ever mailed at the postoffice here at one time, probably, was mailed a few days ago by the Melton Lumber Company—one thousand and twenty-two letters.

LIGHTNING KILLS BALL PLAYER.

Bolt Descended as He Locked Up for a Fly Ball.

St. Anthony, Iowa, July 5.—An outfielder of a baseball nine, looking up to catch a fly ball in a critical moment of an exciting game, was struck dead by a bolt of lightning.

A runner and the remaining eight men in the field were all knocked from their feet and rendered unconscious.

The players refused to interrupt the game on account of the approaching storm, and about one hundred spectators remained on the grounds. They were almost blinded by the flash of the lightning stroke, the first of the storm, and it was several minutes before they recovered from the effects and went to the aid of the prostrate men in the field.

Albert Laplant, the outfielder, 22 years old, was found dead. There was no mark on his body, aside from a small blue spot on the side of his head, but every bone had been pulverized. The other players were unconscious for periods of from 20 minutes to three hours.

SCIENCE PREVENTS BALDNESS.

The Fatal Germ and Its Remedy New Facts of Science.

It is the rarest thing in the world for a man to be necessarily bald. No man whose hair is not dead at the roots, need be bald if he will use Newbro's Herpicide, the new scalp antiseptic. Herpicide destroys the germ that cuts the hair off at the root, and cleans the scalp of dandruff and leaves it in a perfectly healthy condition. Mr. Mackett, in the Maryland Block, Butte, Mont., was entirely bald. In less than a month Herpicide had removed the enemies of hair growth, and nature did its work by covering his head with thick hair an inch long, and in six weeks he had a normal suit of hair. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

LOVE LETTERS AND TATTOO

Alone the Only Means of Identifying This Man.

Middletown, Ohio, July 5.—Within clinching but two love letters and a number of tattoo marks as clews to his identity, the body of a man whose first name is Charley, was found alongside the C., H. and D. tracks near here, death having evidently resulted from being struck by a train.

Besides tattoo marks on left arm, a "heart and dagger" is emblazoned on the left breast.

One letter is from Katie Keller, of Cleveland, while another is from a woman signed Margaret, who says it makes no difference to her if Charley is married. The man was aged about 35, of medium height, brown hair and dressed in a gray shirt and blue shirt.

BRAVE KENTUCKY WOMAN.

Fought Negro and Finally Routed Him—Lynching Feared.

Pine Bluff, Ark., July 5.—Mrs. Olive Taylor, formerly Miss Olive Jennings, of Westport, Ky., widow of the late John H. Taylor, and one of the most prominent society women of this state, was attacked by a negro in her bedroom at the residence of Captain Sebastian Gedwitter.

The woman fought the negro for several minutes, finally routing him. Early today, a negro lieutenant, who was positively identified by Mrs. Taylor, is under arrest. Sheriff Phillips hurried the negro away from the city as threats of lynching were made.

Accident Caused Walkout.

Brunswick, Ga., July 5.—All the employees of the Georgia, Florida and Alabama railway shops walked out yesterday as the result of an accident to a machinist named Davis. Davis was working between two cars of a siding, when a train of cars was switched in and he was crushed between the cars, receiving severe injuries about the head and shoulders from which he died today. Striking shopmen state that the flag of protection, which is placed at sidings when cars are being repaired, was removed. They demand that all switches to such sidings be locked, and placed in hands of master mechanics or foremen of shops. They say they will not return to work unless this edict agree to this. The company have nothing to say.

From Obscurity to Renown.

An orchard with trees surrounded by corn stalks four feet high, in "Testing field," Kentucky blood, a valley about three miles from Greensburg, near the village of Rosdale, is the source known as Kentucky blue grass. In summer no sign of water or of water plants can be seen near it. Its walls are now down, and thickly interlaced vines and brush hide it from view. In winter it overflows, making the valley and contributing its rich juice to the greatness of inland farms. Thus from an obscure, hidden and unnoticed origin England's historic grass lands and farms began. Folly bridge on the Kentish waters below the Tower of London, it serves everything from an infant's gentle pleasures to the sinister requisites of the greatest city in the world.—From "In Tennessee."

A Trifle in Learning.

"I want you," said the old farmer, "to give the boy 'bout six or eight dollars' worth of learnin'. For instance, I'll start him on three bushels o' corn; then, when that's out, I'll keep him learnin' on a couple o' smokehouse hams, an' I may decide to give you a young heifer to larn him writin' an' a fresh milked cow for a leetle 'rithmetic."

"Do you want him to learn any of the higher branches?"

"Well, after he climbs a leetle you might throw in 'bout a bushel or two of 'em, or say 'bout a quarter o' beef's worth."—Atlanta Constitution.

They Disagreed.

"These fellows were fighting," said the policeman.

"Your honor," began one of the prisoners, "I beg of you not to accept so crude a misconstruction of our acts. Doubtless you have heard of a 'gentleman's agreement?'"

"Certainly."

"Well, we had one, but it had progressed to the stage where it became a 'gentleman's disagreement.'"

Yet was the judge deaf to reason.—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Dust.

They were celebrating their engagement by dining at a swell cafe.

"Do you believe," she queried as the conversation lagged, "that man is really made of dust?"

"Well," he rejoined, glancing at the dinner check, "he wouldn't be able to travel far in your company if he wasn't."—Chicago News.

The man of grit carries in his presence a power which spares him the necessity of resenting insult.—Success.

"The Blood is The Life."

Science has never gone beyond the above simple statement of scripture. But it has illustrated that statement and given it a meaning ever broadening with the increasing breadth of knowledge. When "the blood is the life" is impure it is not alone the body which suffers through disease. The brain is also clouded, the mind and judgment are affected, and many an evil seed or impure thought is the direct result of the impurity of the blood. Pure, impure blood can be made sure by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It purifies and enriches the blood, thereby curing pimples, blotches, eruptions and other cutaneous affections as eczema, tetter, or salt-rheum. Hives and other manifestations of impure blood.

In the case of scrofulous swellings, enlarged glands, open eating ulcers or old sores, the "Golden Medical Discovery" has performed the most marvelous cures. In cases of old sores, or open eating ulcers, it is well to apply to the open sores Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve, which possesses wonderful healing potency when used as an application to the sores in connection with the use of "Golden Medical Discovery" as a blood cleansing constitutional treatment. If your druggist don't happen to have the "All-Healing Salve" in stock, you can easily procure it by inclosing fifty-four cents in postage stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, 663 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y., and it will come to you by return post. Most druggists keep it as well as the "Golden Medical Discovery."

You can't afford to accept any medicine of unknown composition as a substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery," which is a medicine of KNOWN COMPOSITION, having a complete list of ingredients in plain English on its bottle-wrapper, the same being attested as correct under oath.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels.

JAILED FOR DEBT.

At One Time the Law Was Severe on Those Who Owed Money.

In nearly every country until comparatively recent times debtors have been subject to imprisonment. After the panic of 1825 20,000 writs for debt were issued in England. In 1830 7,000 persons were sent to London prisons for debt, and on Jan. 1, 1840, 1,700 persons were held for debt in England and Wales, 1,000 in Ireland and less than 100 in Scotland. From time to time modifications in the laws governing the imprisonment of debtors have been made, so that fewer debtors are imprisoned for this crime each year.

In 1820 there were 2,000 debtors in prison in Massachusetts, 10,000 in New York, 7,000 in Pennsylvania, 3,000 in Maryland and a like proportion in other states. Many of these persons were jailed for debts of $1. The law providing for the imprisonment of men who could not pay their debts was shown to be impracticable by statistics taken from Philadelphia, where in 1828 there were 1,500 debtors imprisoned for debts amounting to $25,000. The expense of keeping these persons in confinement was $32,000, which was paid by the city, and the amount recovered by this method was $25.

Imprisonment for debt was abolished by congress in the United States in 1833, though this measure was not fully enforced until 1839.—New York Tribune.

WIFE OR CHILD, WHICH?

An Ingenious Problem With Two Interesting Equations.

Some time ago George was bragging about never having told a lie, and he said he never would. An Irishman, hearing the assertion, made a wager with George that he could make him tell a lie in two minutes.

So Pat began: "Supposing you and your little child and her friend were out in a boat for a row, the boat suddenly capsized, and you were all thrown into the water. Now, which child would you save?" asked Pat.

"Well," answered George, "under the circumstances I should save my own in preference to any one else's child."

"Very good," answered Pat. "Now, suppose you and your wife and child were out for a row and the boat again capsized. Now, which of them would you save, your wife or your child?"

After a thoughtful pause George answered that he would save his wife.

"There you are," cried Pat. "You said at first that you would rather save your child in preference to any one else's, but now you say that you would save your wife, who is somebody else's child."—Pearson's Weekly.

W. D. DICKINSON,
Tax Collector, Alachua county, Fla.

Gainesville, Fla., June 27th, 1907.

Should any persons who have paid their taxes, find any items of their property advertised to be sold in the foregoing list, if they will send me the number and date of their receipt, I will investigate, and if correct, will have same immediately taken from the list at my expense.

We have been as careful as possible in preparing this list, but it is a very difficult undertaking, which covers a period of eight months' collections. There is a possibility that some items may have gotten on the list, on which the taxes had already been paid. I will cheerfully correct all such errors, without any expense to the tax payer, provided, my attention is called to it, as per above request. Very respectfully,

W. D. DICKINSON,
Tax Collector.

This was one of the most attractive and up-to-date sales ever conducted in this section of the State, and had it not been for the inclement weather, would have proved a big success.
